MESSAGE from the President

I am happy to present before you the Annual Report 2015-2016 of BSSS.

It has been an extraordinary year for our team here at BSSS and for the people we served. Extraordinary in the sense that we did not have to battle any major natural calamity this year, which for some time now had been a regular phenomenon in Odisha. So with God's grace we were able to focus our efforts, energy and resources towards strengthening the lives and livelihoods of the people instead.

BSSS has always given priority to the most poor and vulnerable sections of the society. We tried our level best to serve them through our four major thematic interventions, namely; education, health, livelihood and disaster preparedness. In doing these we on one hand cemented a solid foundation for the most vulnerable people and enabled them take and live out major decisions in their lives. On the other hand we took BSSS to a new height of professionalism and commitment.

I would like to make a special mention of Fr. Jojo, the Director of BSSS, who has steered the organisation with a firm hand and far-sighted vision. Under his leadership BSSS has not only been able to find a place in the national development scenario but also made its mark internationally. I liked to thank him for his perseverance and dedication. Fr. Lijo Nirappel has provided an able support to him, and together they have displayed an excellent team work spirit.

The dedicated and skilled staff strength that BSSS carries with pride is an example of what a motivated team could achieve under able leadership. It would not be an exaggeration to say that without character, commitment and companionship of the present BSSS staff force, it would have been impossible to achieve what BSSS has done over the years.

I thank all of them and also remember our partners who have been with us and strengthened our relationship on this mission of service. Without your generous support there would have been far lesser smiles on the faces of the poor and marginalised people. Let this Year of Mercy guide all of us to feel the pain and agony of the poor and ignite yet again the spark to serve people selflessly.

Rt. Rev. Dr. Simon Kaipuram
Bishop of Balasore

MESSAGE from the Director

The year 2015-2016 has gone by now. Of course it was a meaningful year for BSSS because we are consciously striving to become strong and vibrant to eliminate extreme poverty, uphold human rights, safeguard a sustainable planet and ensure human dignity of the poor and vulnerable population of our operational areas. This is to fulfill the clear mandate that we have received from our Lord i.e., "TO LOVE ONE ANOTHER"

Over the past couple of years I have had the pleasure of witnessing BSSS growing as a valued organization in its operational area and in the national and international arena. Even though the external environment is not so much favorable, my experience is that our team come together to show resilience, determination and a shared sense of purpose to become an agent of change in the society. What I was so much pleased was that our team as a single unit persistently engaging with the community with their steadfast commitment to help the society's poorest and most vulnerable. So that they may be able to take charge of their lives and thrive.

BSSS is striving hard to become perfect in the four thematical areas such as Livelihood, Education, Health and Disaster Preparedness. In our endeavor to bring efficiency and professionalism in our interventions, we had introduced few changes in our organization such as changes in the structure of staff and upper level leadership sharing the responsibilities with more clarity. One of the important thing, we had always stressed up on was sustainability. When I say about sustainability, it is not merely in our interventions, but we are trying for sustainability in both our intervention and Organization. Even though we are not completely successful, but at the same time we are successful to certain extend. The sustainability model we have developed from our past experience is performing well and the good initiatives which we have started through different projects are continuing even after the projects phased out. It was possible only through the continuous handholding and support that we have extended to communities with whom we were engaged. Our initiatives with the farmers' collectives demonstrate the sustainability through their collective strength.

BSSS as a facilitating agency leverage the involvement of different resource agencies/projects (KVK, CSISA, ATMA), Govt. departments (Agriculture, Horticulture etc.) and other national and international funding agencies (IRRI, IFPRI, Caritas Switzerland, Caritas France, Catholic Relief Services, FdNf, Children International, SAC, NABARD, Caritas India and its partner organizations etc.) to create synergies and address important but sensitive issues. I gratefully remember their generous contribution and looking forward to have creative and noble partnership with them in the future too.

The Governing body of BSSS is just like a light house having our dear Bishop its President. The guidance which they provide for the smooth running of BSSS is incomprehensible. I always look towards that light house, so that we are on the right direction. I owe a great deal of appreciation and gratitude to our both the natural and other partners and well-wishers. Their contributions in the growth of BSSS cannot be forgotten. I sincerely thank them and appreciate their willingness to contribute.

When different parts are assembled together we get a vehicle for our journey. The staff of BSSS are just like different parts of vehicle, each one joints in its accurate place and as one unit we move forward to reach out the poorest of the poor looking towards fulfilling the vision of BSSS. I always want BSSS to be an Organization for the development of the people.

Fr. Jojo C. V.
Director, BSSS

MESSAGE

from the Assistant Director

It gives me immense joy to glance back to the valuable efforts and endeavours of BSSS, in giving a hand to our people to rise above. Since the nature's fury was calmed down not to bring devastation to the people last year, especially in the south of Odisha, BSSS was able to put its major forces in the arena of livelihood and agriculture of the tribal peasants, near about 5,000 families as direct beneficiaries and much more as indirect beneficiaries, spread in the four districts of Balasore, Mayurbhanj, Bhadrak and Kheonjhar. While the parents were being constantly trained and motivated towards improving their livelihood and bringing about a sense of unity in working together innovatively in different groups, BSSS did not forget to venture in to the lives of the children at home, weak in study and dropped out of the school. It ensured an inclusive care to the families whom we care and nurture. Disaster preparedness and rehabilitation have been always a major focus for BSSS' venture. Hence, construction of three cyclone centres, and providing stress tolerant seeds with improved agricultural training to thousands of vulnerable farmers have been the primary reach out of the year, in the particular area of focus.

I can proudly say that today, BSSS, as a development wing of the diocese of Balasore and as an NGO, has a clear vision and mission, moving away from the charity based approach to development based approach. It always holds the 'mashal', a light to show the path to progress which is always eco-friendly and altruistic to the well-being of all. Sustainability of the efforts and system is being made sure and the people own up the responsibility of activities initiated, where the people lead and we guide. BSSS make sure that by the time it phases out, they are able to stand up in unity, with a certain funds mobilised by their own efforts through different community based organisations.

All these things were possible only because there were strong supporting hands behind us. BSSS owes ineffable gratitude to our esteemed agencies, IFPRI, IRRI, CSISA, Caritas Swiss, Caritas France, Caritas India, Save a Family Plan, FdNf, DBTech, CRS and all the well-wishers who helped and guided BSSS in spreading human values of love and service to the people in need. This message will be incomplete without a word of appreciation to our dear staffs whose energy and commitment matters a lot in achieving the desired results.

May the grace of God helps BSSS ever remain as a power catalyst for change and progress.

Fr. Lijo Nirappel
Asst. Director, BSSS
